Management Information System Assessment

A. About IDLO

The International Development Law Organization (IDLO) is an intergovernmental organization exclusively devoted to promoting the rule of law. Established in 1983, IDLO works to enable governments and empower people to reform laws and strengthen institutions to promote peace, justice, sustainable development and economic opportunity. Its programs, research and policy advocacy cover the spectrum of rule of law from peace and institution building to social development and economic recovery in countries emerging from conflict and striving towards democracy.

The Assembly of Parties is IDLO's highest decision-making body. It is composed of Representatives of all Member Parties, which have joined the Establishment Agreement of IDLO. IDLO currently has 37 Member Parties.

IDLO has its Headquarters in Rome, a Branch Office in The Hague, Liaison Offices for the United Nations in New York and Geneva, and Country Offices in Afghanistan, Armenia, the Bahamas, Burkina Faso, Honduras, Indonesia, Kenya, Kyrgyzstan, Jordan, Liberia, Mali, Mexico, Moldova, Mongolia, Myanmar, Niger, the Philippines, Somalia, Tunisia, Uganda and Ukraine.

The work of IDLO is sustained by a dynamic, diverse, multinational and multicultural workforce, comprised of over 400 employees plus additional personnel in the non-employee category such as consultants and interns. About one fourth of the IDLO workforce is based in its Headquarters in Rome, while the rest are spread across the globe in our Branch and Country offices.

B. Background

For nearly two decades, IDLO has been assisting the Government of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan (GIROA) in the development of accessible, accountable, effective, and efficient justice sector institutions. While significant progress has been made, many challenges remain. Some of these challenges are perceived to be rooted in the ongoing conflict, the impact of insecurity, and the public's fear for their safety. In its 2017 National Justice and Judicial Reform Plan, the GIROA identified ongoing conflict and insecurity as the main reason for a "rift between citizens and justice and judicial entities." Research also indicates that security concerns continue to impede women's professional participation in Afghanistan's justice sector, with very few specific strategies in place to address this challenge.

IDLO Afghanistan is implementing a project that aims to assess the current status of the justice sector's inclusiveness and accessibility, study the impact of insecurity and implement interventions that can ameliorate this impact. Under the Reducing the Impact of Insecurity on Afghanistan's Legal System (RIIALS) program, IDLO aims to work with the Government of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan to alleviate the challenges to the justice sector caused by insecurity. Under the RIIALS program, IDLO will design interventions that will build on its existing efforts to assist Afghanistan's justice institutions to increase access to justice, expand professional capacity and achieve greater professional gender parity. These interventions will include providing partner institutions with assistance to improve their policies and procedures and to pilot interventions in line with their strategic plans. These efforts will be designed to ensure that justice workers and those they serve can feel safer and thereby: 1) expand access to justice with a focus on unsafe, rural, or remote areas; 2) continue to improve the capacity of justice sector professionals; and 3) advance women's meaningful participation in the justice sector. The RIIALS project is in line with the National Justice and Judicial Reform Plan, which recognizes the importance of safety and security for the justice sector to function effectively.

As a part of the RIIALS program, IDLO will be supporting its institutional partner to assess its need for a Management Information System (MIS) that can facilitate information sharing between justice sector actors, institutions and consumers. IDLO seeks to engage a Service Provider who will be able to provide recommendations on the feasibility of using existing government systems, the availability of other existing systems that can be purchased, or specific features that must be included in a customized design. If a MIS is not advisable, the Service Provider will be required to provide recommendations as to how best to utilize the institutions existing infrastructure to improve their information sharing.

C. Expected Output

IDLO is looking to engage a Service Provider to assess the feasibility of utilizing an electronic Management Information System at the office of an IDLO institutional partner to generate reports related to performance of justice sector actors and others who report to this partner. This system should support the management of this institution to develop policies and make decisions about the allocation of resources, staff, etc.

The outputs for this project will be:

1. Consultations with institutional partner staff and other justice sector stakeholders to understand key activities and deliverables, and how those would be complemented by an electronic MIS;
2. A thorough assessment of any existing MIS and/or management control system at the institution.
3. An assessment of the current IT system and its ability to support an MIS including a review of the physical infrastructure (physical layout, and space allocation within the beneficiary institution office, and features that would allow such a system to be cost-effective, comprehensive, and sustainable);
4. A detailed report containing a recommendation on the feasibility and potential design of an MIS system, including:
 - a. A detailed list of the hardware and software specifications for the MIS along with an estimation for projected maintenance, software and hardware upgrades; and,
 - b. A detailed list of key staff that would require training on the use and maintenance of a MIS.
5. Submission of an assessment report based on consultations and equipment review.

6. Presentation of findings to IDLO and institutional partner.

D. Institutional Arrangement

This assignment will be based in Kabul, Afghanistan at the offices of the beneficiary institution. The successful Supplier will be required to provide weekly reports to the RIIALS Field Program Manager outlining progress and noting any challenges encountered.

IDLO will liaise with the partner institution to ensure that the Service Provider has access to institutional data and staff.

E. Duration of the Work

The Work is expected to be completed within 45 calendar days from Contract signature of both Parties.

F. Work Location

The location will be based in Kabul, Afghanistan at the offices of the institutional partner.
