Thank you Mr. President and miss director general and ladies and gentlemen and I will take the opportunity to congratulate the three new members to participate in IDLO. I also show our gratitude to the President and to the Director General and to the excellent team for their hard work and good work. And as an international organization to devoting to the justice and rule of law, IDLO has made good efforts and carried on various programs worldwide and get good results and get high praise from stakeholders. And these programs were designed and developed very considerately. Also, with the development trend of the worlds and the goal of UN, IDLO has gotten the opportunities and there is also a big potential to explore for IDLO in designing and developing activates. For example, China would like to take the opportunity to make some suggestions in the programs. For example, and perhaps if you could design the programs more balanced geographically which could benefit more members. And also we could combine the advantage of IDLO and the actual need of developing countries and members, focusing on both social issues and economic topics, which could be more helpful to developing countries' sustainable development. And also can expand IDLO's influence and so just as mentioned by Egypt perhaps it is better to listen to the words of the developing members themselves. And another suggestion is that we could provide more access for members not involved in specific programs to get the trending cause or database, which could make the programs more effective. And also, perhaps we could create and make the activities in more forms. For example, we could set up some training in Yorm and invite all the countries and member to take their training so this can reduce the cost and also can make the trainings more benefit for more countries. And tomorrow we will talk about the UN 2030 agenda and the goal, the most substantial goal, of the UN is the sustainable development which is also consistent with China because a reason that we also take the sustainable development and creative development and sharing development as the most important goals for China's development. So, we would also like to listen to the voice from all of the parties. Also, I want to take some time to talk about China at IDLO. Since 1990 China has been a member of IDLO and we have been in good cooperation with each other. In 2014 IDLO has raised the suggestion to set up a representative office in China and we have contacted very frequently and China has been conducting internal discussion with relevant agencies. And we also informed the progress to the representative to the (unknown) of IDLO in China. Next, what we all discussed was to host a country agreement with IDLO and we hope we could reach the agreement as soon as possible. And also we hope that we could deepen and strengthen our cooperation further in the futi the IDLO's future. Thank you and that is all.
